PIT BEEF

A BALTIMORE TRADITION

originating from the working class neighborhoods of east baltimore, pit beef is a top round of beef rubbed with spices and grilled slowly over coals. true to this tradition, we rub our top round with our own special blend of spices and let it sit for 3 days. the meat is char grilled until crispy on the outside, rare and juicy on the inside. it is then sliced paper thin and served with horseradish sauce.

all pit sandwiches are char-grilled & served on a toasted kaiser roll with hand-cut french fries.
